

1001 Books Before Kindergarten

Welcome!

The Wauwatosa Public Library's Children's Department has developed 1001 Books Before Kindergarten to help your family expose your children to outstanding literature and art.

Attached you will find your child's first reading log. Each time your child listens to a book, write down the title. These titles should include books read to your child by you, caregivers, siblings, librarians, etc. We understand children love to listen to particular titles over and over, which is great! Children benefit from repetition when building early literacy skills. In an effort to introduce your child to a wide variety of literature, we encourage you to explore new books too.

To help achieve that goal, you will also find attached:

- a list of recommended titles
- a list of literacy concepts with explanations

Working from the list of recommended titles helps you expose your child to important literacy concepts and a wide vocabulary before they start school. You may also find new favorite books and authors you might not have found otherwise.

When you complete your first log, please come in to the Library so we can give you the next log. We also love to talk to you and your child about what books you have shared and enjoyed!

When your child completes the program, they will choose a book to be placed in their honor in the Wauwatosa Public Library's picturebook collection. Other children will be able to check out and enjoy the book for years to come.

Reading is a joyful activity, so have fun! Relish the stories and time spent reading together, and please share with us what you discover.

Sincerely,

Abby, Sharon, Brianna, and Megan
